RESCUERS BATTLE TO CRASHED PLANE

Parents Yield Child to Win School Battle

Grandfather Made Guardian In Cahulla Transfer Dispute

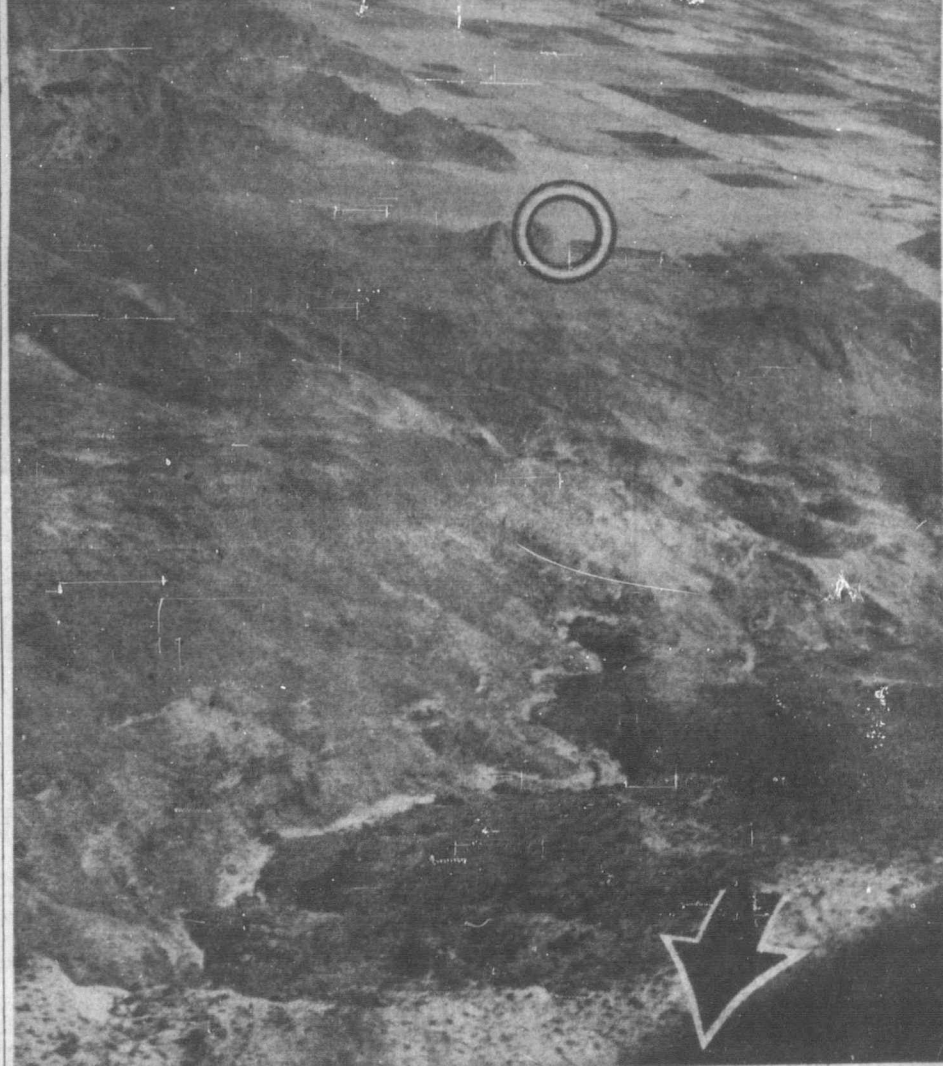

A legal maneuver circumvented the Palm Springs Board of Education last night with the result that 8-year-old Linda Spencer will stay in Cahulla School, apparently until she finishes.

The Board, in conformance with long-standing school districting policy, had ordered the pupil transferred from Cahulla to Frances Stevens school on the grounds her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Spencer, 400 North Marcus Road, live in the latter district. The parents contended she lived with her grandfather, Orson P. Smith, in the Cahulla district.

The parents obtained a temporary court injunction against the transfer, and a hearing was set for today.

Last night, however, the Board was presented with letters certifying the Spencers had relinquished control over the child and named Smith her legal guardian. Smith's attorney, Henry C. Cleary, told the Board he would drop the injunction proceeding if the Board would concede it could now permit the child to attend Cahulla without violating Board policies.

The Board did so, with the reservation that the child would again be transferred should the guardian-grandparent move from the district.

IN THE RUGGED TERRAIN of the Santa Rosa Mountains in back of La Quinta, sheriff's deputies and members of the 42nd Air Rescue Squadron from March Air Force Base found the bodies of three men killed when their Navy Skyraider crashed late yesterday afternoon. Rescue parties hiked all night last night and this morning before reaching the scene of the accident. 6000 feet over the wrecked plane (arrow), reporters in the press-plane could see the camp of the rescue unit (circle) in the distance. Three Bodies are Found in Deep Canyon

Navy Craft Down In Inaccessible Area South Of Village

A rescue team of deputy sheriffs and members of the 42nd Air Rescue Squadron from March Air Force Base, today reached the crashed Navy Skyraider in the rugged foothills of the Santa Rosa Mountains southwest of La Quinta Hotel.

Latest reports said that the rescue unit found three bodies, and are continuing the search in the vicinity of the wreckage.

The Navy plane crashed "in an almost inaccessible crevice" and was completely destroyed by fire. The accident was reported to have happened at about 4 p.m. last night.

Eyewitnesses said that they saw two planes flying in the vicinity of the desert before the plane crashed.

Navy information officers at North Island in San Diego said this afternoon that no information would be released on possible identification until the next of kin are notified.

At noon today Desert Sun reporter-photographers flew over the scene of the accident, with pilot Mac Haskell, co-owner of the Palm Springs Airport.

Over the rugged hills, the reporter flew at from 4000 to 6000 feet, scanning the terrain for the crashed ship. Planes from the March Air Force unit were circling the crash, marking it for the men on foot who were climbing the mountains to find the bodies.

The main camp of the rescue unit was located at the base of the foothills, at the end of a dirt road about two miles from La Quinta Hotel. Though the original estimate was that the plane had crashed about five miles from where the unit had set up camp, the distance was found to be greater by the reporters who flew over the terrain.

Dark shadows hid the wreckage from the cameramen, for deep in the almost inaccessible crevice the plane had burned.

Snows Again Hit Northern Part of the Midwest

By UNITED PRESS

Winter made a return appearance in the Northern Midwest today, covering Wisconsin with a blanket of snow.

The U.S. Weather Bureau issued a special bulletin reporting snow over most of Wisconsin and spreading eastward into Michigan. It predicted depths would range from one to three inches.

Earlier, up to one inch of snow fell on parts of Minnesota and North Dakota and temperatures were well below freezing. A Pacific Northwest storm dumped locally heavy snows on the Cascade Mountains.

In the East, meanwhile, spring weather made a belated arrival. Temperatures rose 10 to 20 degrees, melting the heavy snow drifts piled up by a weekend blizzard.

Temperatures went into the 70s as far north as Nebraska in the Midwest yesterday. In the Southland, much-needed rains were expected to pelt Florida.

White House Easter Egg Roll Set April 2

WASHINGTON — President and Mrs. Eisenhower will open the White House gates for the traditional Easter Monday egg roll April 2.

PIONEERTOWN ROMANCE

Chance Happeneth to All That boy Pat Chaney is in a bad way — lost his girl. She was working at the second "Last Chance Saloon," (the first Last Chance Saloon burned down a year ago.)

Chaney one night made up his mind to ask his girl to marry him so he shaved, got all dressed up and went out to the second "Last Chance" to ask her. He had waited too long. The little lady was fed-up with "belated chances." She had circled the town coming in on the North Road, had up and married the keeper of the "First Chance Saloon."

Girl, 8, Finds Ike's Bodyguards Get in Way of Romance—or Something

WASHINGTON — Sarah Tuggle, 8, denies she has any romantic interest in David Eisenhower, 7. Speculation about Miss Tuggle's affections started yesterday after a letter she wrote to David's grandfather, President Eisenhower, was read at a birthday party for David's grandmother.

Sarah, daughter of Interstate Commerce Commissioner Kenneth Tuggle, wrote:

"I go to the same school with David. The only trouble is I see very little of David because the Secret Service gets in my way."

Miss Tuggle said primarily the letter was a plea to the President to run for reelection.

Romance?

"I never meant any such thing," she said.

Marine Killed, 2 Hurt in Area Auto Accident

One marine was killed and two others were injured seriously today near Twentynine Palms when their car hit a soft shoulder and overturned. It was the second fatal accident within 24 hours involving Marines from a nearby base.

The California Highway Patrol said Robert V. Hilton, 21, was killed, and Warren B. Governor, 21, and James M. Hough, 20, were injured in the crash.

Officers said the accident bore startling resemblance to a crash Thursday which claimed the life of Pfc. Rodney J. Canfield, 22. The car in which Canfield was riding with two fellow Marines also hit a soft shoulder and overturned.

Attorneys for the defendants, Albert H. Meyers, 32, operator of the B & B Pool Hall, Elsinore, and James F. Matthews, 45, of Hemet, stipulated that the evidence against the two men was true after their clients entered pleas of not guilty, waived a jury trial and asked for an immediate hearing. Both men were then found guilty by Judge Waite.

Meyers and Matthews remain free on $5000 bail.

They and seven other persons were arrested March 10 by investigators from Sheriff Joe Rice's office. Still to face the court are five from Palm Springs, one from Cathedral City, and one from Elsinore.

Joe and Frank Portnoy are scheduled to appear Tuesday at 10:15 a.m.; George Zouganiles at 9 a.m.; Monday; Mrs. Nona B. Mills and Zella Gertrude Hensley at 2:30 p.m.; Monday, and Joy Sacks at 2:30 p.m.; Wednesday. The other defendant is Loren White, 48, of Elsinore.

Police Tighten Hubcap Alert

Roger Lams, of 707 C Street, Cathedral City, yesterday told the police two hubcaps were stolen from his year-old car while it was parked Wednesday night in a parking lot.

Meanwhile, a crackdown on hubcap thefts continues with orders for patrolmen to maintain an extra-alert surveillance of suspicious persons, especially youths.

Daniel Blohn, 19, a Marine stationed at Twentynine Palms, yesterday was sentenced to 10 days in county jail by Judge Eugene Theriault after he pleaded guilty to a charge that he stole four hubcaps Wednesday night. He was arrested about three hours after he was stopped for speeding and the stolen caps found on his car.

Big 3 Parley on Mid-East Crisis Called for May

WASHINGTON — Diplomatic sources said today the Big Three foreign ministers will meet in Paris in May to map a united stand on the Middle East crisis.

Reports from London said Britain's foreign secretary will be armed with a standby plan for military action in case the Arab-Israeli tensions explode into war.

The United States hopes peace efforts by the U.N. Security Council will succeed. But it is seriously considering asking Congress to give it standby authority to use force, if necessary, if the United Nations fails.

The White House announced that a conference of President Eisenhower and his top diplomatic, defense and security advisers has been postponed until tomorrow.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty denied that the session was a "crash meeting" on the Mideast crisis.

Village Realtor Sues for $65,333

Montague N. Herbert, Joel H. Prescott Jr. and Roy M. Roberts and five John Does yesterday were named as defendants in a suit filed in Riverside Superior Court asking more than $90,000 damages for "fraud and conspiracy" in a Cathedral City area subdivision deal.

Plaintiff is Realtor Martha James of this city. The suit, based on an "oral agreement" of November 1, 1953, asks $65,333.33 as her share of the profits from the development, $25,000 "exemplary and punitive" damages, and litigation costs.

High School Pool Opened for Easter

The swimming facilities of the High School were made available to the City Recreation Department during Easter Week, by action of the board of education of the Palm Springs Unified School District last night.

The swimming pool will be open during Spring recess, March 28, 29, 30 and 31, from 1 to 8 p.m. on the matter.

Protests All But Kill Cabazon's Annexation Hope

Protests last night by owners of 94 per cent of the valuation of six sections proposed for annexation into Cabazon virtually has quashed all that city's enlargement hopes.

City Attorney Jerry Bunker today wrote a formal evaluation of last night's public hearing of the annexation to City Manager R. W. Peterson, saying that besides Palm Springs' protest, at least six others were lodged before Cabazon mayor L. D. Tallent.

More than 75 persons attending failed to harbor one protagonist for the annexation. The county, though not entering a formal protest, was represented to protect its interest in the state truck-weighting scale near the intersection of Highways 99 and 111.

Those entering protests included the Morongo Valley Indians, Southern Pacific Railroad Land company, Southern California Gas, Western Palm Springs Land company and Ernest Ball.

Ball, who is one of two home owners in the area, said that Cabazon has nothing to offer, and any promises are a subterfuge to obtain a share of the proceeds from the scales. He said that calling the section uninhabited was a queer and unusual twist of the facts.

Bunker asserted that the way for Cabazon's city council is clear. They will probably, by ordinance or resolution at a meeting set for March 29, cancel annexation proceedings.

If such is the case, proceedings could not be reinitiated for a year.

Judge Says He Knows His Dice

PATERSON, N.J. — Expert counsel on dice rolling came from an unexpected source in court Thursday.

A question arose as to whether a bet could be placed while the dice were rolling and the defense asked for a conference in the issue.

Judge Howard Barret said it was customary to bet only before shooting and added, "I am an authority on the matter."

Araby Point Bridge Bids to be Asked Soon

A call for bids from contractors for the proposed Araby Point Bridge will be issued within two months by C. V. Kane, state highway engineer at San Bernardino, Willard Hillery said today.

The bridge, estimated to cost about $200,000, would be completed by the end of this Summer. It will serve the double purpose of relieving the floodwater situation for Indian land in section 30, and riding Highway 111 of a serious traffic hazard.

Though the first span will carry but two traffic lanes, the design is such that additional lanes may be attached if later traffic warrants, Hillery said.

Hillery, chairman of the flood control district of the county for this zone, announced that a public hearing will be held in Palm Springs next month, and that he and the other two commissioners will discuss projects for the coming fiscal year which starts July 1.

The time and place will be announced later.

In May, John Bryant, supervisor of the county district, will discuss the relative importance of the projects discussed at the open meeting, and that month another public meeting will be held to discuss crystallization of the 1956-57 schedule.

Woman Accused in Check Frauds

A 33-year-old Downey woman, arrested today by Los Angeles Sheriffs will be confronted by Palm Springs police and a local clothing store operator this evening because she denied charges that she cashed more than $600 in checks last weekend at three stores.

The suspect, Dorothy Lucille St. Claire, was accused of taking advantage of the closed banks last weekend, and using bad checks to pay for clothes and shoes.

One of the victims, Edith Webster, will go to Norwalk to identify the suspect. Mrs. Webster accepted a check for $336.63, after taking the suspect's driver license number.

Sheriff's deputies in Norwalk said the woman's description tallies with that supplied by the victims.

Sept. 17 - June 7 Set for Next School Year

Board of education last night called a special meeting to set pay scales and hire teachers for the 1956-57 school year, and approved a new school calendar for the term.

The trustees scheduled the start of school for September 17, and included eight local holidays and seven legal holidays. The state law provides 175 school days, bringing the last day of school to June 7, 1957.

Holidays include two days at Thanksgiving, one day for Veterans' Day, 10 days at Christmas and New Year's, one day each for Washington's and Lincoln's birthdays, a two-day Spring recess, and one day for Memorial Day.

The board also set April 17 as the date for a special meeting of the board to handle the employment of personnel and setting of salary schedules.

Reports Woman Companion Took Cash as He Slept

A San Bernardino man yesterday told police that a woman about 30 years old, dressed in black, relieved him of $75 and a $210 wrist watch while he was sleeping at a northend hotel.

The victim who said he wanted to aid in apprehension of the woman from a public service standpoint, rather than for any personal satisfaction, said he had met the girl downtown, gone dining and dancing, and generally contributed to an evening of entertainment for both of them.

They went to the hotel, and while he slept, she slipped away with the cash and jewelry.

34 senators, would scrap the present winner-take-all system of distributing the electoral votes of each state. Instead, a state's electoral vote would be divided proportionately among the three top presidential candidates or by congressional district.

FARM: Administration sources said President Eisenhower is willing to accept higher support prices this year for wheat and cotton. The move would be aimed at stopping a Democratic drive to restore rigid price props. However, Democratic farm leaders made plain they aren't interested in that kind of compromise.

MILITARY BUYING: The House Military Appropriations Subcommittee charged the Defense Department with granting excessive profits on defense orders, losing tons of military equipment "in the mud" and leaving planes grounded for lack of 25-cent parts. The subcommittee made the charges along with others in a report on a nine-month investigation into military buying.

TRADE: The Senate Investigating Subcommittee planned a new attempt Monday to get information from administration officials on East-West trade in strategic goods.

CIVIL RIGHTS: Sen Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) said he is preparing a congressional manifesto backing up the Supreme Court's school integration decision. He said his manifesto will challenge the manifesto signed by 100 southern congressmen attacking the Supreme Court ruling.

Union Warns Ike of Rail Strike

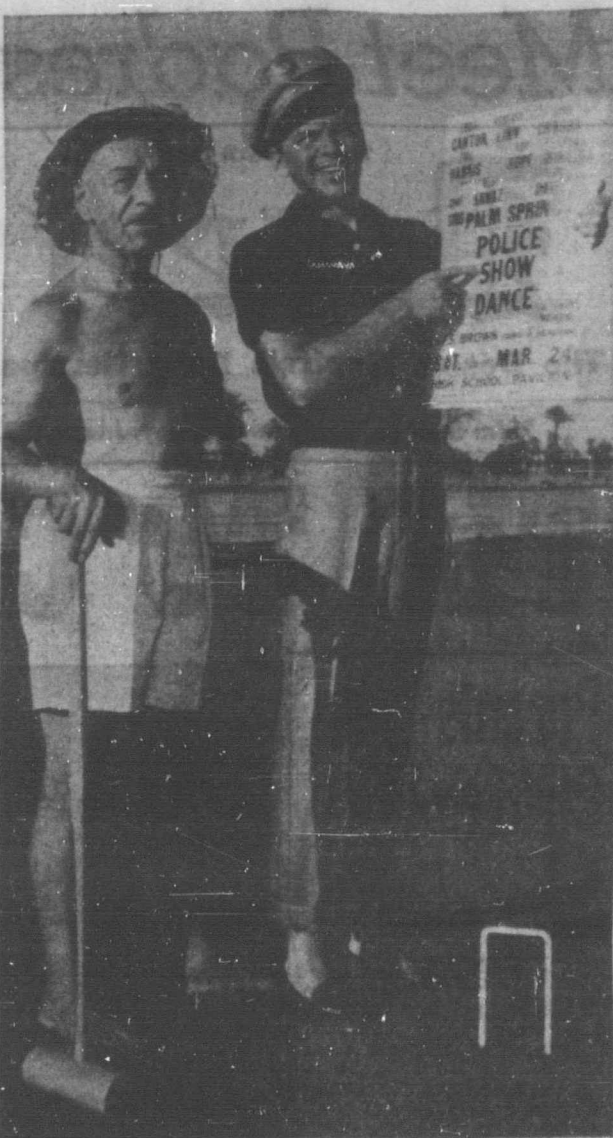

WASHINGTON (AP)—The president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen told President Eisenhower last night demands of railway owners for contract changes pose a serious threat of a nationwide rail strike.

H. E. Gilbert, president of the 96,000-member union, said in a letter to the President that more than 140 railroads are trying to cancel important contract provisions now in effect.

Army Unveils Device for Launching Scores of Guided Missiles at Enemy

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP)—The Army today unveiled the "Missile Master"—a huge electronic brain whose lightning-like action can launch scores of Nike guided missiles against enemy air raiders. Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker said that missile masters will be installed at major industrial, population and military centers to control the fire of Nike batteries against attackers.

The secretary created a flurry by asserting that the electronic brain can detect aircraft "and missiles" and control counterattacks on such invaders.

Army officers conducting a demonstration here at first refused to say what kind of missiles Brucker referred to. But eventually it became clear that he meant the winged types that travel about the same speed as modern bombers. He did not mean, it was clear, ballistic missiles against which defenses still have not been devised.

The Army said that plans for constructing Missile Master facilities throughout the country are included in its program for the fiscal year beginning next July 1 and are currently being considered in Congress.

Army officers said that the Missile Master, a combination of electronic computers and long range radar, can be used to control the firing of "any current anti-aircraft missile," including the Talos. Up to now, Nike batteries, ringing the major target areas, have had to operate independently. As a result, there was danger that in a mass air raid uncoordinated fire would result in some planes eluding the Nikes while others were attacked by more than necessary.

The Army revealed that an experimental control center has been operating here for two years. It now can control the fire of 11 Nike batteries in the Baltimore-Washington defense area. A battery normally has eight launchers.

The range of a Nike missile is about 25 miles.

Patient Leaps 90 Feet to Death

Senate Hastens to Pass State's Big Budget Bill

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The Senate hastened today to dispose of the budget bill so it could get to work on the one really controversial item left in the Legislature: Creation of a single water department.

Up for final debate in the upper house was a state budget for the fiscal year starting July 1 which calls for the expenditure of $1,769,406,489.

That's $17 million higher than the Assembly's version of the spending program and $33.2 million more than Gov. Goodwin J. Knight asked for three weeks ago.

WHILE THE Senate version sounds like a vastly inflated spending program compared to Knight's request, about $18 million of the extra amount is a bookkeeping transfer of beach and park funds and is not an actual increase in spending.

The Assembly already has approved its own budget proposal but the differences in the version that came out of the Senate Finance Committee Thursday will force the two houses into a six-man free conference committee, which will tussle with the problem over the weekend.

Completion of the work on the budget bill will permit the Senate to turn next Monday to five different proposals to set up a new, single department of water resources.

The water bills have touched off a strong division of opinion between senators and assemblymen with the governor under heavy pressure from both houses to support the Senate or Assembly versions.

Thus far, the governor has indicated he favors a straight-line agency, headed by a director, as recommended by the assembly, in contrast to Senate bills which set up a policy-making water board.

Only 2,000 Years to Live

From the inexhaustible fount of the calamity chorus now comes new bad news with a new twist: The world may not be going to ruin, but it's likely that the people will run out of world pretty soon.

To be specific, Sir Charles G. Darwin, 68-year-old grandson of Charles Darwin of "origin of the species" fame, said recently in Pasadena there "won't even be standing room" on the earth in roughly 2,000 years.

That's because people are multiplying at the rate of 90,000 per day.

Happily, though, this theoretical physicist adds that probably both food and water will run short considerably before 2,000 years. In which event, we suppose, the populace will be exterminated with more dignity and privacy than an open-air squeezing to death.

We have no desire—nor qualification—to dispute so eminent a name as Darwin on the population subject. But we seem to recall reading an also authoritative population study from Washington purporting to prove a mere 700 years will see the multiplying citizens of this now roomy nation crowded to the extent of Singapore, where the average individual has only two square yards of liebensraum.

But meanwhile, this study said, ingenious men will have departed this world—literally—via space ship to other planets which by then will have been opened to homesteading.

Which seems to us mighty comforting, Darwin notwithstanding.

Or if you like a more grisly philosophy, there is the Malthusian theory which holds that wars will always wipe out sufficient of the excess humanity to keep it within reasonable limits—or at least within the limits of its food supply.

Somehow it all reminds us of a current dispute before the Interstate Commerce Commission. This high-level hassle revolves around whether it's better to pack watermelons in boxcars lengthwise or crosswise. Shippers want them the long way; the railroads crossways. Each claims his method causes less damage to the melons in transit.

On this crucial issue, too, we profess no prescience. In fact it never occurred to us to demand of our favorite grocer that he deliver us nothing but cross-shipped melons. Our standing policy has been that if the product eats good, let well enough alone. If not, get another grocer.

That's in recent years. Before that, we recall that as a boy we seldom rebelled even if the watermelon got so crosswise as to finish partially in our hair. Certainly we were not then concerned with the long-range future, or past, of the product under consumption.

All of which lurches up to our primary point: First things first.

For until somebody does something about the world's more proximate woes—like short socks, short bathtubs, tax forms you can't understand and lunch counters you can't cross your knees under—we don't intend jumping into any way-off-yonder squabbles. — M.L.H.

The President's Speech (St. Louis Globe-Democrat, St. Louis, Mo.)

His complete honesty and candor were satisfying and refreshing. It marked a new high in American politics, especially since it must inevitably be compared to President Roosevelt's utter lack of honesty when he deliberately bamboozled the American people and refused to allow the same issue to be raised when he ran for office in 1944.

The President's speech rang with the obvious sincerity of the man. He told the American people every pertinent fact about his physical condition and of the personal program which he intended to pursue in the campaign and, if elected, in his second term.

The President is right, too, in rejecting a barnstorming campaign. Such a campaign is not only inconsistent with the office of the President, but it is entirely unnecessary when the candidate is as well known to all the American people as Gen. Eisenhower.

In 1952, a whistle stop tour was necessary because he was not widely known. In 1956, he can properly desist from the wholly unnecessary physical exertions. This would be equally true of any President seeking re-election, whether or not he had once suffered a coronary.

Republican hopes are soaring as a result of the President's disclosure, but the party would be unwise to consider the election already won. While the President's personal popularity is perfectly enormous, the Republican party is in a minority in the country.

The Democratic party controls the Senate, the House of Representatives and a majority of the Governorships. The Democrats have strengthened the party by co-operating with the President on many major issues to a far greater extent than have the Republicans.

The Republican party has also hurt itself by playing footsie with the oil lobbyists, as in the recent Nebraska exposures, though no more so than the Democratic leadership in the Senate. The President obviously deserves much more support from his own team than he has received.

The Vice President will also be an issue. This will unquestionably be decided by Mr. Eisenhower himself, although he will listen to the wisest counsels before deciding on the choice of a running mate.

There is wide-spread sentiment against the renomination of Vice President Nixon. Most people seem to be against Nixon, though few reasons are advanced for this lack of confidence in a man who has loyally served as Vice President and who, in spite of his relatively young age, has had previous service both in the House and the Senate.

If his rise has been fast, it has been no faster, for example, than President Theodore Roosevelt, who was inaugurated President at a younger age than Mr. Nixon has now attained and who made an uncommonly good President. Age itself is not the only qualification for high office.

If the Republican party was sparse on candidates, other than the President himself, the same may be said of its candidates for Vice President. In addition to Mr. Nixon, former Governor Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, would make an excellent Vice President. Gov. Dewey is one of the ablest men in the nation and a man of towering integrity and eminent qualifications.

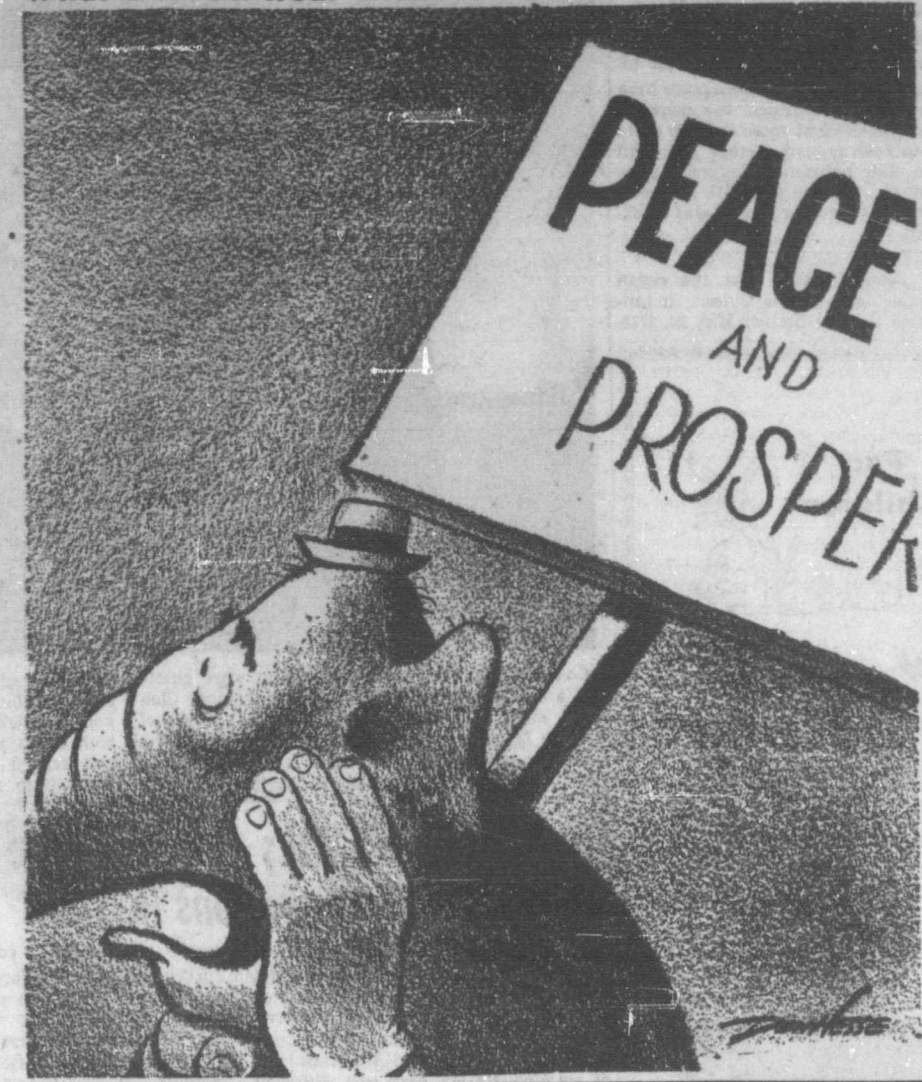

Gov. Christian A. Herter, of Massachusetts, might also make a good Vice President. Senator Knowland could not be considered because of question of his loyalties to the policies of Mr. Eisenhower. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge could hardly be considered a strength to the ticket since he was defeated for the Senate in Massachusetts.

The President made a forthright and statesmanlike address which was entirely in character for him. His critics will find difficulty in dissuading the American people from the support of such a man.

"What Do Yuh Hear from the Middle East?"

THIS SIDE of The Sun By Phat

Today's treatise shall start with a profound question—and will include a gripe.

The gripe is about these drivers of pick-up trucks who bounce over some of our unpaved desert roads. And the material they carry, generally used lumber with the nails still sticking in it, bounces out on to the highway.

The profound question is: Why do all of those nail-studded pieces fall on the highway with the nails standing straight up, like a kid's piece of bread and jam always lands jam side down? It's a menace to all tires not of the self-sealing variety. There's a law against it, too.

WHILE THE SEASON certainly isn't limping along, some of our Palm Springs citizens are. Seems to be an epidemic of leg mishaps.

Herbert Samson of the Citizens Bank stepped into a chuck-hole and had to resort to a cane. Bill Foldes followed suit when he turned too suddenly and twisted a knee and Bill Rashall, blames a pinched nerve for his limp. Who pinched it, he won't say, but he shouldn't miss it, he has plenty.

THE PEOPLE who can't get long distance, think they are paying too much or have other complaints, aren't the only ones with telephone trouble.

These are the people in the outskirts who are on multi-party lines. They claim that too many people do not know the meaning of dial tone and it is aggravating to have someone start dialing while in the midst of an important conversation.

And then there are those rude people, knowing well that they are protected by anonymity, who rudely interrupt other parties with a profane "get off the line." I await the day when the TV principle will be applied to phones and you can see who's talking—and talk back.

SPEAKING OF TV, here's one I heard the other day I like:

A teen-ager started for a chair facing the home TV with an armful of school books.

"You'll never get your homework done watching TV," her father scolded sternly.

"Oh, sure I will, dad," the girl replied. "It's a very short assignment tonight. Only about six commercials worth."

RAN ACROSS a filed clipping just now, from a Los Angeles newspaper. It detailed a medical meeting in which a noted doctor said, that under certain conditions, water can be intoxicating.

So, even the chaser is potent! Any day now a judge may hear the accused say: "I just had a couple shots, your honor, it must have been the water. I didn't know it was loaded."

An appropriately named Palm Springs gentleman is Forrest Bird. At first I thought he might be an ornithologist (that's for the birds) but I find that although he isn't, he's still aptly named.

He deals in oxygen and that's for those who fly through the air, too.

REPORTING ON recent perusal of various newspapers and magazines, would pass these on:

O. A. Batista said: "When a man is driven to his knees and throws in the sponge, it may be he's just getting ready to wash the kitchen floor."

Also in "Banking": "In France every little boy can grow up to be Prime Minister—and most of them do."

Grace to Receive Mink

HOLLYWOOD—Prince Rainier's wedding gift to Her Grace will be a three quarter length white mink coat. It's setting him back $5,600. . . Frank Sinatra will get $125,000 for doing "Pal Joey" for Columbia, the same studio that paid him $8,000 for "From Here to Eternity." That's what you call poetic justice or somethin'. "Eternity" being the picture that rejuvenated Frank's career. . . Ingrid Bergman, who refers to herself in interviews as an exile, plays the role of an exiled Polish noblewoman in her new movie, "Elena and Men," now shooting in Paris. Ingrid's persecution complex is for the birds. Perhaps someone should send her a copy of "The Power of Positive Thinking."

The scandal magazines aren't selling as well in Hollywood as they used to. Guess the stars don't believe those stories about themselves any more. . . Paramount is paying Doris Day for the role of Betty Compton, the late Mayor James Walker's sweetheart, in "Beau James," Bob Hope as Walker. . . Incidentally, Hope's new movie, "That Certain Feeling," with Eva Marie Saint, Pearl Bailey and George Sanders, is of ski-nose's best and funniest since "Nothing But the Truth." Paramount sneak-previews it the other night in Pasadena, a tough town for sneak previews (as Bob himself says, "That town is where they pour Ovaltine over your popcorn")—and they're still rolling in the aisles over it.

The Coconut Grove held up its floor show a whole hour Wednesday to let the star attend the Academy Awards ceremonies at the Pantages Theatre. Star being Peggy Lee, who was up for Marilyn Monroe, who's staying at the Sahara Motel in Phoenix while "Bus Stop" locations there, is averaging 100 phone calls a day. Most of them are from fraternity pledges in Phoenix who want to date the blonde as part of their initiation ceremonies. Well, that's one reason. . . Marion Davies is buying the Squibb building at 57th Street and 5th Ave. in New York. It will be called the Marion D. The star of the silents already owns the Davies building at 57th and Park Avenue and the Douras Building (named after her father) at 55th and Madison. . . It's Red Skelton's gag—"Funny, isn't it, how a bundle of curves can make a man a bundle of nerves?"

TV TOPICS

Davy Crockett has had it. Walt Disney has eased out of his 1956-57 TV production program, so Davy joins Hopalong Cassidy in Limbo. . . Dewey Martin, who got his big break in pictures as Humphrey Bogart's desperado brother in pictures as "The Desperate Hours," is currently one of the hottest names in TV. Almost every top dramatic series is after him, including "Playwrights '56," which has gone as far as to offer him something unheard of in TV—approval of his leading lady.

C'est La Vie—Danny Thomas was first offered the role of the homely butcher in "Marty" but turned it down because he was too busy with his own "Make Room for Daddy" Teleseries. So what happens? Ernest Borgnine played "Marty," won an Oscar—and Danny's "Daddy" series was dropped.

Pub S'Ciety Discovers Subway

NEW YORK—Oh, to be in Florida (or California or Phoenix) now that Spring is here!

"Hello, Spring!" sang out a department store sign across 5th Ave.—a sign that was snowy and blizzard-whipped and about as springy-looking as Siberia.

But the hardy N. Y. Night Life Set lived it up despite the 13-inches of frozen springtime because—flash!—it discovered the subway.

Irving Berlin, who may be dreaming of a white Christmas, prefers warm weather when he's not dreaming, so he beat it off to Palm Beach, but people like Neja Ates, the belly-dancer of "Fanny," had to mind the store and get home afterward.

"I never been in my life subway," tittered and giggled Neja at 2 a.m. of the first day of spring at her apartment in the West 90's.

"I have so much fun subway because I have a lotta meckup face and everybody watching me. I give man one dollar and he give me lotta like nickels. I'm gonna put'em on my neck like jewelry. Then I get outa subway. I fall down in snow and I hurt my fanny."

Actor Forrest Tucker told me how writer Carey Tucker—who lives outside Schenectady—actually snowed out 15 miles into that city and caught a train here to deliver a TV script that was due.

"He used to live in Alaska and didn't mind," said Tucker.

ROBERT S. ALLEN:

British-Soviet Summit Meet?

WASHINGTON—Real reason for former Premier Georgi Malenkov's mysterious trip to London is to arrange a British-Soviet "summit" conference.

That's what the U. S. embassy has cabled the State Department. Malenkov's surprise visit to Britain has aroused world-wide conjecture as to the true import of his first journey to a foreign country. The U. S. embassy has advised the State Department that Malenkov is in London on preparations for a top-level British-Soviet parley.

It will take place during the April visit of Communist boss Khrushchev and Premier Bulganin.

That is turning out to be a great deal more momentous than the largely social event originally contemplated. The sojourn of the two Kremlin rulers is to be used for direct negotiations on a number of far-reaching issues, foremost among them the war-threatening Middle East crisis.

Prime Minister Anthony Eden personally initiated this basic change in plans.

Following the headline-making Khrushchev-Bulganin junket in India, Eden began sounding out the Russians on making their April 15 visit to Britain more than a ceremonial affair. Instead he proposed "realistic" talks on key problems; that is, in effect, a "summit" conference between the two powers.

The Kremlin chiefs agreed to that "in principle" after considerable wary deliberation.

It is now definitely known the matter was discussed at the Communist Party's 20th Congress in Moscow in February. The decision was reached to send Malenkov to Britain, in the guise

The Subway Set suddenly saw celebrities from Cafe Society—and Comedian Joey Carter wished for a subway as he struggled to get from Newark to Manhattan.

After clowning on the Comedy Hour in Hollywood, he flew to Newark in 8 hours.

It took him 7½ hours to get from Newark over here. The cab he was in broke down. He finally made it to the Blue Angel where he didn't order any snowballs (ice cream and coconut) for dessert.

The Versailles cafe had a very, very big night.

The previous night, customers couldn't get cabs. So Andy, the assistant maitre d', got his own car out of a drift and drove folks home. Most of them came back next night to thank him. Business was so good that Nick Pronis, one of the bosses, who's been on the wagon, had four brandies.

of heading a delegation of electric power experts who were already scheduled to go there, but actually to complete arrangements for the "summit" parley.

PENTAGON VICTORY—A backstage backdown by Defense Secretary Wilson has averted another stormy explosion in the Pentagon.

Assistant Defense Secretary Clifford Furnas, who only last November became head of research and development, was all set to follow in the footsteps of Air Force Secretary Donald Quarles who recently resigned because of irreconcilable differences with Wilson. But Furnas hasn't had to go that far—as yet—as a result of a last-minute reversal by Wilson.

The explosive issue between him and the former Chancellor of Buffalo University is over who is to boss new weapons development, including guided missiles.

Furnas took the Pentagon job with the understanding he has this authority. But without consulting him, Wilson issued a directive transferring that control to Assistant Defense Secretary Frank D. Newbury, 75-year-old personal friend of Wilson.

This unannounced order was viewed by Furnas as a maneuver by certain Pentagon factions to gain domination of the immense research and development program, running into hundreds of millions of dollars.

The New York scientist served notice on Wilson that unless the "disruptive" order was cancelled he would have to get a new research director. Wilson backed down. After two plain-talking conferences with Furnas, Wilson junked his ukase "for further study"—as press inquirers are being told by his assistants.

Oil Spokesman Asks Majority Rule in Production Operations in State

PALM DESERT — Calling for application of a basic American principle — that of majority rule — to oil production operations in California, an oil company spokesman — this afternoon said that lack of an adequate law may cost the people several billion barrels of the valuable resource.

Max J. Taves of the Richfield Oil Corporation Engineering Department, spoke during an oil conservation program at a meeting of the Palm Desert Rotary Club at the Shadow Mountain Club, and was introduced by co-chairman of the program committee, Hal Kapp.

Engineers have recognized for many years that the only way to get the greatest possible economic recovery from oil and gas wells is through a method called "unit operation," Taves said. Describing what unit operation would mean to the state he said that "repressuring under unit operation would increase California's reserve of recoverable oil by approximately five billion barrels. This would more than double the estimated recoverable reserves at December 31, 1954, of four billion barrels."

This estimate, he said, was based on results of a recently completed survey of twelve California fields now fully unitized. The survey, made by an engineering expert from Dallas, Texas, showed that unit operations in those fields will increase production some 18.3 per cent. Engineers applied this percentage increase to all non-unitized fields in the state and then, to be conservative, cut the resulting figure in half to arrive at the five-billion-barrels estimate.

At present, he said, complete unitization of a California oil and gas reservoir requires the agreement of 100 per cent of all interests in the reservoir, and in the usual case there are so many interests involved that 100 per cent agreement is impossible of achievement.

An accurate name for such a law, he told the group, is a "majority-rule meritization," and majority rule, with full protection to any minority, is a thoroughly American principle.

Three-Day Open House Set for Preview of Stanthony Hospitality House April 6-8

PALM DESERT—A benefit for the Riverside County Cancer Fund; a three-day Open House, and a spectacular preview will mark the opening of the Hospitality House at the entrance to the Shadow Mountain Club.

The press preview of the home will be held April 4, when 88 newsmen from leading newspapers from the west coast will be met by twenty automobiles at the Palm Springs Airport as they arrive by a special chartered TWA Constellation. Members of the Palm Desert Women's Club will act as chauffeurs.

On April 6-7-8, the open house for the benefit of the Cancer Fund will be held by the Palm Desert Women's Club, and tickets are now on sale by contacting any member of the organization, or at the door on any of the three days.

Special invitations have been extended to representatives of leading trade and shelter magazines, plus local newspapers for the showing of what has been hailed as a refreshing new concept of indoor-outdoor living in the contemporary manner.

Refreshments will be served at the Hospitality House for the newsmen, and a special luncheon will be served in the spacious dining room of the beautiful Shadow Mountain Club nearby. Late in the afternoon, the group will return to Los Angeles in the same plane.

The Stanthony Hospitality House was designed by William M. Bray, AIA of Los Angeles, and constructed by Roberts Construction Company, of Palm Desert. Interior decorations and furnishings are being coordinated by Carleton House of Beverly Hills.

PURPOSEFULLY planned for informal entertaining of builders and architects during the coming years, this 3 bedroom, 3½ bath modern home has 2400 square feet under roof with a large, colorful patio and sheltered terrace. Outdoor life will gravitate around the handsome free-form swimming pool and open fireplace in the patio.

Inside, guests will find many new innovations designed to make the home more convenient, and easier to maintain. The kitchen, for example, contains every accoutrement of modern day living with both gas and electric cooking units as well as a built-in barbecue. It also includes one of the first electronic ovens in Southern California—the scientific wonder that cooks with microwave energy.

New colorful plumbing fixtures, attractive tile, infra-red bathroom heaters that give heat instantly at the flick of a switch, make each bathroom an outstanding attraction. Spacious sliding glass doors, wall safes in each bedroom, and a built-in vacuum cleaning system are just a few of the outstanding features in this beautiful home.

A new type of siding material that is impervious to almost everything and will not crack, warp, or chip, assures complete utility of the air-conditioning and heating units in the home.

Residents May Hire Service of Private Patrol

PALM DESERT—Having been unsuccessful in getting police patrol for the residential area of Palm Desert, the residents are now considering what might be done, as a joint community enterprise, in engaging the services of a private police patrol.

A group of Palm Desert residents have been trying, for over a year, to impress Riverside with their need for, and right to police patrol, this coming under the heading of tax-supported public services. To patrol Palm Desert would mean that the Sheriff's office in Indio would have to be allotted additional manpower and to date the group has failed to induce Riverside to so extend the police patrol service.

Outstanding Real Estate Work Shop Hosted by CV Board at Palm Desert

PALM DESERT — Outstanding authorities on a wide range of technical real estate subjects were the featured speakers and panel group leaders at an all-day "Work Shop" on real estate at the Shadow Mountain Club to which the hosts, the Coachella Valley Board of Realtors invited all real estate brokers and their staff members from Palm Springs to the Salton Sea.

Starting with breakfast the session continued throughout the day with outstanding speakers at breakfast and lunch.

ment in connection with imposing speed limits through the area" explained a Palm Desert spokesman, "so speedy conditions still exist in spite of every effort on behalf of this safety measure."

With the advent of the summer season, however, it is felt that the matter of police protection is urgent and an open Town Meeting will be called shortly to see what can be done by the community to subscribe to a private patrol.

The breakfast "kick-off" was at Firecliff Lodge and Fred Mitchell, a Realtor from San Diego, keynoted the day's session. Mitchell, who is vice president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, past president of the California Real Estate Association and now active as a real estate consultant, delivered an address on "Public Relations As Applied to Real Estate."

Two guest speakers and a panel were featured at the morning session. "Tax Opportunities in Real Estate" were discussed by Harold V. Mather, chief of training branch, of the Los Angeles office of the Department of Internal Revenue.

Local Realtor members attended an Escrow Panel discussion held during the morning program. Those who took part included Joe Long of Security Title Co., Eunice Tiss of Pearson, Scott and Company, and Aurora Burke of Coachella Valley Savings and Loan Association. Topics included: "How to Set Up An Escrow, Things To Do and Avoid."

The featured speaker at the luncheon at Shadow Mountain Club, was Robert Williamson of Citizens Bank of Riverside, and a tour of the club grounds following, under the auspices of Hal Kapp, Realtor and president of the Palm Desert Chamber of Commerce.

Details of the program were handled by the program committee for the Coachella Valley Board of Realtors, George Merrill Roy, chairman, Byron S. Phillips and Milton Hoffman. President Ted Smith handled reservations and invitations.

Paris and Helen are reunited behind the safety of Troy's walls and Paris once again returns to the battle which has turned in favor of the Trojans. The demoralized Greek leaders meet to listen to Ulysses who offers a plan to win the war. The Greeks build a giant wooden horse in which Greek soldiers are hidden, and then prepare their ships to sail. When the Greek ships sail away, they leave behind a victory "gift" for the unsuspecting Trojans. (Continued tomorrow)

Unedited

By BILL RASHALL

There are times when I get my ears pinned back. Today it happened but good and the pinning was done by no one other than Sheriff Joe Rice.

"I read your column yesterday," telephone Joe, "and I'd like to talk to you about that part which refers to me and bookmaking in Riverside. 'And,' added the Sheriff, "I want to talk to you face to face somewhere as soon as possible."

So I met Joe face to face and we had a bit of discussion that ended up with this admonishment for yours truly.

"I didn't like what you wrote in Unedited about bookies in Riverside county and I'd like to know who gave that information to you." At this point I demurred and the Sheriff took another tack.

"I want it to be known right here and now that information regarding bookies in Riverside has never been brought to my attention. If there are persons who have such information which may lead to illegal horsebetting in Riverside it has never been brought to my attention."

"I WOULD APPRECIATE being furnished with this information concerning bookmaking, whether it is in Riverside or any other part of this county."

"There has been no bookmaking or activities of any vice conditions concerning Riverside or vicinity," declared the sheriff.

"If these persons you mentioned in your column do not wish to give me their information they may go direct to the Grand Jury. I do not condone or will I tolerate flagrant law violations of any kind in the city of Riverside or elsewhere in the county."

So it went with Sheriff Joe Rice and yours truly except that the Sheriff left me with these words: "Put me down as a subscriber of The Desert Sun and have it mailed to me personally." O. K., Sheriff Joe Rice.

THAT FELLER Ray Corlis got a big how-d-doo at the Republican fifty-dollar a plate dinner the other night. Melba Bennett planted the accolade around his shoulder with:

"And we have with us tonight a fine young man who is taking his first step into politics as a candidate for city councilman."

On top of this George Murphy, master of ceremonies, congratulated Ray as a fine Republican and a young man with a glorious tan on his cheeks "without any need for make-up." Murphy, of course, was referring to his own days as a motion picture actor. All in all, it was a good bit of recognition before more than 200 Villagers assembled to hear former governor Dan Thornton of Colorado, especially when one is running for city council.

AM STILL IN considerable pain from this sciatica condition of my right leg but there is hope in the days to come.

Pearl McManus called today to declare: "I do believe that our good old Summer days are not too far distant."

And the hope I expressed above came to me in the form of another capsule contributed by one Dan Howard. It goes this way:

"The greatest triple play wasn't in baseball. . . . You'll find it in the Bible: Faith to Hope to Charity!"

Decimal Point

OGDEN, Utah — Weber County commissioners came close to hiring a new jailer for $2.40 a month. Commissioner Arthur Brown, reviewing a request to hire George Weatherston for that sum, said: "We ought to send this back and tell the sheriff we're not that broke." The commissioners voted to hire the jailer after moving the decimal point in his salary to the right making it $240 a month.

Kerr's Harmony Chorus to Give Concert Here

Phil Kerr's 60-voice Harmony Chorus will be presented in a special concert at 7:30 p. m., Saturday, at the Community Church of Palm Springs.

Under the musical direction of Audrey Mier, the singing group has made appearances in the largest auditoriums in the West, and have been featured on national radio and T. V. programs. They recently appeared with Homer Rodeheaver in a series of musical motion pictures.

The Chorus includes volunteer singers from more than a dozen different churches in the Los Angeles area. Although the program is of a religious nature, the group prefers to be called a "Christian glee club" rather than a "choir." All of the singers serve without remuneration.

Phil Kerr, nationally known as a composer and pianist and musical evangelist, will direct the entire program, which is open to the public. There will be no admission charge. The event is being sponsored locally by the Community Church.

Mace Osenbach Buys Home Here

Mace Osenbach, well known Long Island sportsman who once was known as the "Boy Scout of the Stock Exchange," has purchased a home at 1345 South Camino Real, and plans to make Palm Springs his permanent home.

Osenbach acquired his title by making several killings on the stock exchange during his younger days. He retired and after several trips around the world decided to settle in California, and selected Palm Springs.

He plans to completely redecorate and furnish his new home.

Bill Colvan of Associated Realtors of Palm Springs, 457 North Palm Canyon Drive, represented both buyer and seller.

HAROLD SHERMAN

Harold Sherman to be Speaker Here Tuesday

Harold Sherman, philosopher, author, psychologist and lecturer, will be the fourth speaker Tuesday in a series of five being sponsored by the Church of Religious Science of Palm Springs, of which Dr. Irma Glen is minister.

His topic will be "Thoughts Through Space," which is the title of one of his more than 70 published books.

Since beginning his writing career as a newspaper reporter in 1921, mysteries of the mind have been his constant life study. Among his books, which he calls "Keys to Richer Living," are "You and the Universe," "You and Your Powers Within," "You—Your Body and Mind," "You and Your Worry Thoughts," "You and Your Feelings Toward Others," "You and Your Sex or Married Life," and "You and Your Fears."

Sherman's lecture will start at 8 p. m. at the Woman's Club. A question and answer period will follow, according to Dr. Glen.

Reich to Speak to GOP Assembly

Palm Springs Republican Assembly will hold its regular meeting at 8 p. m., Tuesday, at the American Legion hall, with Herman Reich of Palm Springs, Republican candidate for Congress from the 29th District, as the featured speaker.

Museum Seeks Power Saw Loan

Dr. C. E. Smith, director of the Desert Museum, today appealed for the loan of a power jig saw during the Summer months, to prepare a special exhibit for Fall showing. Anyone having a saw, which has at least a 12-inch throat is asked to contact Dr. Smith.

Costumes of All Countries Right for Beaux Arts Ball

A kaleidoscope of colorful costumes is expected for the fifth annual Beaux Arts Ball to be held at the Tennis Club on April 12, as costumes and decorations are themed to "An International Night."

The four corners of the earth will be represented by the settings around the tennis courts where dancing and the entertainment will take place. Foods of the various countries, prepared by peoples of those countries, will be offered for sale against native backgrounds.

Sponsored by the Desert Art Center, the Ball will be under the general chairmanship of Mrs. Estelle Yerkes, who will be assisted by Mrs. Charles Arnold. Mrs.

Yerkes this week announced the following committee chairmen: Programs, William Darling, Cay-lord Richmond and Sterling Moak; entertainment, Oscar, Grace Duncan; tickets, William Tackett; Edith Carlson; costumes, Gladys Follansbee and prizes, Frances Goodrich.

In charge of decorations for this year's ball will be William Darling and the Artist's Guilds with all settings designed and executed by the local artists.

This colorful ball with its fabulous costumes and masked beauties is Palm Springs own, and is one of the most colorful of the winter season. This year it returns to the original site, where the first two balls were held, the Tennis Club. Fascinating and beautiful backgrounds were designed by William Darling, art director for such productions as "Song of Bernadette". These colorful creations stored in the Wars Recreation building, were destroyed in a fire during the Summer of 1953.

Costumes for the early Balls were left to each individual's imagination and ranged from the most elaborate to the merriest for that first one which was "A Night in Paris", and it is still a conversation piece.

The third year the ball was moved indoors at El Mirador hotel and "A Night in Spain" theme produced a background of great beauty for the costumed guests with Lily Pons reigning as Queen and Ray Ryan playing the role of King. The grand entry of the Queen and her court of beautiful girls was preceded by blackamoor slaves, with great feathered fans, in a nice bit of pageantry. Last year the Ball was again held at El Mirador, with "One Arabian Night" as the motif. This was a dazzling spectacle, reigned over by Tom and Jeri Hull as the Grand Amir and his jeweled consort.

Tickets for the Ball, which will begin with dinner in the Tennis Club's Bougainville Room and continue through an evening of festivities, are on sale at the Desert Art Center Gallery at 211 South Palm Canyon Drive (phone 5180) or may be secured at The Center, 170 North Palm Canyon Drive, or from members of the Desert Art Center.

Among Palm Springs attending the academy award show at Pantages Theater in Los Angeles Wednesday evening were Mrs. Carter Elliott Sr., Miss Shirley Elliott and Mr. and Mrs. Carter Elliott Jr.

CHARLES IRWIN, noted character actor and Village home-owner, will act as master of ceremonies for the entertainment at the Beaux Arts Ball, to be held at the Tennis Club on April 12.

Northerners Here

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Holland are entertaining Mrs. Adele Paslaqua of San Jose, and Mrs. Laura Brinley of San Francisco, as their houseguests. The Northern visitors, who arrived a week ago, plan to stay another week before returning home. They have been enjoying many Village social activities with their hosts.

Clarence Muller, USN, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Muller. According to word received by the Mullers from their son a few days ago he is scheduled to sail from San Diego the end of this week for an undisclosed overseas port. Clarence graduated from Palm Springs high school last June.

Dick Moseley, who is a member of the Coast Guard, arrived in Palm Springs Wednesday accompanied by his daughter Kathy, who resides in Santa Ana. Dick had been in Manila for sometime and only recently returned to the States. He is visiting his parents Mr. and Mrs. Hutch Moseley for a month. His father has been ill for the past week and is still in serious condition at the Desert Hospital.

Melba Bennett presided at the dinner and hostesses were Mmes. James Ashman, Edward Canby, Ray Corliss, Charles Farrell, Gwynne Hurrell and Ralph Shelley.

And: E. Roy Fitzgerald, Leo Owens, Ed McCoubrey, George Dulaney, Ed Dillon, Cliff Henderson, L. C. Lewis, Merritt Williams, Harold Hicks, William Tackett, Al Hoover, Raymond Cree, and many more.

Five of the six Republican candidates for Congress, Jacqueline Cochran, Norman Davis, Herman Reich, Bill Krieg, Jim Smutz, were introduced as were Ray Corliss, council candidate. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, first woman cabinet member was also in the dinner crowd.

Republicans from Banning, Beaumont, Riverside, Indio and other parts of the county were there, and Ed Ainsworth of the Los Angeles Times, who addressed one of the "Go-Go" luncheon series, came down for the dinner.

A highlight of the evening was the presentation of a Charles Russell print to Governor Thornton. It was given to him by Clyde (Vic) Forsythe, who owns a cotton ranch in Thermal Township. Forsythe, noted artist and the cartoonist who did the "Way Out West" cartoons, had secured a similar one for President Eisenhower, who is a Russell collector, some time earlier.

In the crowd were Mayor and Mrs. Florian Boyd, the Earl Strebbs, Zaddie Bunker, the Jack Kenastons, Fred Karlens, Carl Lykkes, Co. Thorntons, Tom Flemings, Burnham Bigelows, C. W. Allisons, Charles Grahams, Milton Hicks, George Barretts, William Reichels, E. A. Youngs, W. A. Moncriefs, Harry Joe Browns, Earl Cordreys, Monte Herberts, Chauncey Needhams, Rocky Halls, Terry Rays, Mr. and Mrs. Newton Hotchkiss, Dr. and Mrs. Walter Pfifeld, the John Hamricks, Percy Whitesides, Mmes. Charles Becker, Edwin Silverman, Guy Woodworth, Ed Thrasher, Gwynne Hurrell.

Party leaders included George Murphy, who acted as master of ceremonies, National Committeeman Ronald Button and National Committeewoman Marjorie Benedict, and Mr. and Mrs. George Stanley of Riverside.

Elephant baskets, dyed red, white or blue, and filled with flowers in the national colors, were used on the dinner tables as Republicans gathered to listen to their party leaders. Many of the women chose to wear gowns that matched the color scheme and there were some "I Like Ike" badges and pennants.

Governor Thornton and Ronald Button were accompanied by their wives, and there was more than a sprinkling of notables at the head table and in the audience.

Portraits of President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon, red, white and blue decorations, and tiny flags adorning the salad, which was the first course of the dinner, underscored the patriotic motif.

and some of the costumes should be slightly sensational . . .

A package that arrived this week contained a fascinating anomaly . . . An unusual sea shell that looks like it might have come from the waters of the South Seas . . . has been filled with earth and a prickly cactus is growing in it . . . The vari-colored pearls adorning the cactus make me think . . . this must have something to do with Andrea Leeds Howard's Pageant of Pearls . . . where the loot of a thousand and thousands of shells from all the waters of the world is being shown . . . Thanks, Andrea, but every time I reach for a piece of copy paper I hit that cactus . . . Something's gotta give . . .

GOP $50-a-Plate Dinner Stirs Sense of Patriotism

Patriotism, stirred to new life by the inspiring address of Colorado's former Governor Dan Thornton, filled the 200 Republicans who attended the Fund Raising dinner at El Mirador Wednesday night.

Doodles

By ROGER PRICE

"MAN TYING SHOE LACE IN TENT"

Nancy Remington of Beaverton, Ore. thought up this Doodle and she's only 14 which shows we have nothing to fear from the Younger Generation (good luck). The older generation is another story (too bad). Yesterday, a fulltime Adult told me he couldn't see any difference between Doodles and Scribbles. I didn't argue because he was obviously maladjusted, neurotic and jealous. A psychologist once explained that lots of people are jealous of me which is why I get so many insulting letters and home-made bombs (I hope he's right). To show that I'm actually good hearted I have thought up 2 alternate titles for Nancy's Doodle. You could also call it: "A Nincom with a Pooped Poop" or even a "Chapped Potato Chip".
